The U.S. Department of Agriculture has evidence that on or about, October 23, 2014, you or your organization committed violations of the following sections of the Code of Federal Regulations, Title 9:

2.40(b)(3) Attending Veterinarian and Adequate Veterinary Care....Daily observation of all animals to assess their health and well-being...that a mechanism of direct and frequent communication is required so that timely and accurate information on problems of animal health, behavior, and well-being is conveyed to the attending veterinarian. (DIRECT)

You failed to provide adequate veterinary care to the following: A gray fox named Zoe was observed to have a problem with her right eve and when she blinked, she was unable to close her lids over the eyeball. This issue did not receive prompt veterinary attention.

The Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS) created federal regulations to ensure the welfare of animals and help prevent the spread of animal and plant pests and diseases. Since violations of the regulations can have serious and costly impacts that are detrimental to the public interest, APHIS is providing you with an Official Warning for the violation(s) described above. Any further violation of these federal regulations may result in the assessment of a civil penalty, criminal prosecution, or other sanctions. If you have any questions concerning this Official Warning or violation(s), please contact the APHIS official listed in this notice.
